The Jewish Press At KeySpan Park

To help celebrate Jewish Heritage Day at KeySpan Park, the home of the Brooklyn Cyclones, Jewish Press Assistant Comptroller Yaacov Greenwald threw out the first pitch before the July 29 game. He is pictured here with Cyclones pitcher Josh Appell, a resident of Woodmere, New York, and the only Jewish member of the team.

Charles Harary, noted vocalist and member of the Flatbush Park Jewish Center, singing Hatikvah before the game.

(Top Row L-R): Brooklyn District Leader Bernie Catcher; Ronald Balshine, marketing representative, Health Plus; Jonathan Zalisky, community relations associate, Health Plus; Jerry Greenwald, publisher, The Jewish Press; David Willhoft, director of marketing, Health Plus; The Jewish Press's Yaacov Greenwald; Ezra Friedlander, CEO, The Friedlander Group; and Mayer Berkowitz, marketing representative, Health Plus. (Bottom Row) Michael Aryeh Davids (left) with his grandmother, Cynthia Zalisky, executive director of the Queens Jewish Community Council.

(Photos by Shimon Golding)

FOR SALE IN JERUSALEM
1800 Sq. Ft. Villa in Wolfson
Price: $990,000
Tel: 212-444-1933 Email: property@zevenz.com

FREE FREE
The Jewish Heritage for the Blind has available the Large Print High Holiday Machzor.
מחזור
A note from your doctor or optician is necessary.
Forward all requests to:
Jewish Heritage for the Blind
1655 E. 24th Street, Brooklyn, NY 11229
Fax: 718-338-0653 • Tel: 718-338-4999
Email:jhb.ny@verizon.net